

DAWS FAMILY TREE

Compiled by Joyce Voigt

"DAWS" RE-UNION - EASTER SATURDAY -
6th APRIL, 1985

Robert and Martha Daws lived in Edgeware Road, London, England, and had six sons and four daughters.

Three of their sons, George, Edward and Thomas sailed in a yacht, "Kate Karney" to Australia, landing at Sandridge (Port Melbourne) in Victoria in 1854. Francis followed his brothers to Victoria at a later date and he also was followed by Charles.

It has been possible to trace some descendants of these brothers through the initial interest of Mrs. Emma Daws (deceased), her daughter, Gladys, and the persistent and thorough researching by her grand-daughter, Joyce Voigt. Mr. George Stevens was encouraged by his grand-mother, Mrs. Emma Stevens (nee Daws), deceased, and he has collaborated with Joyce Voigt and developed, also published, a comprehensive "Family Tree".

Joyce and George have suggested that a "Daws Re-Union" should be held, and resulting from this, it is proposed to hold such a gathering at 11.00a.m. on Easter Saturday, 6th April, 1985 in the Canterbury Gardens which are located in Canterbury Road, opposite Balwyn Road, and adjacent to the north side of the Canterbury Railway Station, Victoria.

Should the weather on this day be unsuitable for being outdoors permission has been obtained to assemble in the "Old Canterbury Library" which is also located in these Gardens.

Tea, coffee, milk, sugar, hotwater and cups will be provided but each person will need to provide a B.Y.O. Lunch.

Ample parking for cars is available between the Railway Station and the Gardens by entering opposite Rochester Road.

A donation of $5.00 per family would be appreciated to cover hiring charges, printing and postage etc.

You will be very welcome to join this Re-Union and bring with you any relatives who have descended from the "Daws Brothers"

To make this Re-Union meaningful it is suggested each person attending should be identified by names, home address, phone number and the name of the "Daws Brother" to whom related.

To facilitate the arrangements necessary to make this event a happy and satisfying occasion it would be appreciated if you could inform either of the Conveners before 6th March 1985 whether you, and others, will be attending.

Hoping to have your company then.

Yours sincerely,

(Lorna Stephen, nee Daws)

AUTHOR'S NOTE:

This Daws Family History has been compiled after extensive research in Australia and overseas. The information is to the best of my knowledge correct, but I acknowledge the possibility of some errors due to inaccuracies in source material.

It is my intention to continue with my research, to produce an enhanced edition at some later date. I would therefore welcome any comment and/or additional material for possible inclusion in the proposed future edition.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS:

I would like to thank all those many people who gave their time and who shared their information with me to make this publication possible. In particular I wish to express my appreciation to my mother Mrs Gladys Peter-Budge whose interest and knowledge of our Family Heritage inspired me to undertake this research and for the wealth of information and photos that she has contributed; Mrs Phyllis Pederick for the valuable data concerning Edward Daws' descendants and photos, especially that marvellous original of our ancestors Robert and Martha Daws and to her mother Mrs Mabel Pederick, now deceased, who many years ago put on record the early history of the Daws Brothers' migration to Australia; Mrs Rubie Wilson, now deceased, who provided my Project Partner, Mr George Stevens with photos, documents and information; finally to my husband Hans for his patience and input in the computerised production of the data; to George for the unenviable task of printing, collating and binding of the documents and Jenny his daughter for the attractive cover design. It is only through the help and co-operation of so many descendants that the publication of this book has been possible.

INTRODUCTION

You may say, "What a strange way to organise the information in this book. How on earth do I find myself".

Well, the answer is quite simple. The information is organised in families, the oldest of the original settlers being listed first. Each person in every family is assigned a unique number which relates back to the particular forebear. For example, if your number is say 2.4.1.3., the 2 indicates you have descended from George Robert Daws, who is the second child of Robert and Martha Daws, the 4 indicates you have descended from Edward Daws, who is the fourth child of George Robert Daws, and so on. From this numbering system you can quickly establish your exact relationship to any of the Daws descendants, living or deceased. The numbering system also allows for an on-going record of the family tree to be compiled for many generations yet to come. At the commencement of each major section there is a copy of a photograph of the original settler, where one has been available.

As this is a record of people, it is dynamic in that changes will occur periodically. You will find it an absorbing part-time occupation updating your copy every now and then.

Now why not turn the pages to find out about your heritage and see how easy it is to trace yourself back to Robert and Martha.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

The origin of the Daws family name is not clear but it is possibly French, the spelling of the name having been altered when our ancestors migrated to England several generations ago.

In the year 1818 ROBERT DAWS a Cabinet and Chair Maker married MARTHA CHAMPNEY in London in the Roman Catholic Faith (records not substantiated). The Champneys were reported to be an old established family who came to England centuries ago, possibly as far back as William the Conqueror.

Robert and Martha had ten children, six sons and four daughters. Five of the sons, 1.Charles, 2.George Robert, 3.Edward, 4.Thomas and 5.Francis migrated to Victoria in the 1850's. Another son Frederick and the four daughters remained in England. It is known that at least two of the girls later married Irishmen with the surnames of Burke and Hogg and went to live in Ireland in or near Limerick.

The Family lived at 17 Margaret Street, Cavendish Square, London, where most of the family were possibly born. They later moved to 33 Edgeware Road, London West End, which today is a well known road in the heart of London.

Robert Daws a reputable tradesman of high standing in London, was commissioned by the Crown to make adjustable reclining chairs and special tables for at least two reigning monarchs, King George IV and King William IV. To show royal appreciation he was an invited guest at the palace and was also given "Freedom of the City of London". He designed and patented the "Recumbent Easy Chair" in 1832. He later made three similar reclining chairs and sent them to his sons George Robert, Thomas and Edward in Victoria. Two of the chairs are still in possession of his descendants today. The third chair was lost in transit.

In 1853 Francis and wife Lucy (both minors) migrated to Victoria aboard the sailing ship "Hope", arriving at Sandridge (now Port Melbourne) on 8th March, 1853.

They were followed the next year by three of Francis' older brothers, George Robert, Edward and Thomas, all carpenters. The brothers sailed from London aboard the Brig "Kate Kearney", which carried timber and a total of 10 male passengers. The voyage took about six months, during which time they were becalmed for two weeks east of Capetown. They finally arrived in Melbourne on 26 April, 1854.

Soon after their arrival they obtained employment to help erect a fence around the Governor's residence in St. Georges Road, Toorak, and were paid one Pound for an eight hour working day. This historical residence "Toorak House" is now owned by the Swedish Church.

Records show that Charles, the eldest son arrived in Victoria late in 1854, the last of the five sons to emigrate to Victoria.

Little is known of the whereabouts or lifestyles of the brothers during their first few years in the colony. Some of the brothers, it is told, bought land in Collins Street and conducted a business there. Francis Daws later owned a Tent Importing Business in Queen Street, Melbourne. George and Edward started a General Store and Bakery at Bullarook about 1860 and later owned a similar business in Kingston, near Ballarat. Thomas returned to London for some years and later again emigrated to Victoria with his bride Jane and settled in the Ballarat district about 1873. Charles opened an Upholstery Business in Ballarat in the early 1860's where he worked for many years and later moved to Armadale, Victoria.

During the goldrush era in the 1860-70 in Ballarat, it is known that George and Edward invested money in mining ventures in the Ballarat area. These later proved profitable.

The Daws brothers remained in Victoria and even today most of their descendants still reside in that state.
